

Lecture at the Library of Congress*

ON THURSDAY, March 2, 2006, His Eminence, Archbishop Chrysostomos delivered a lecture at the U.S. Library of Congress entitled, “From Franny and Zooey to Freud: The Psychotherapeutic Application of the Teachings of the Desert Fathers, Hesychasm, and Eastern Orthodox Mysticism.” The talk was attended by congressional scholars, several representatives of local psychiatric training programs, former NPR, NBC, and CNN reporter Sheilah Kast, the Librarian of Congress, Dr. James Billington, and other dignitaries. Following His Eminence’s presentation, a buffet lunch was served at the John W. Kluge Center, where His Eminence was the David B. Larson Fellow in Health and Spirituality for the Winter of 2006.

*Source: Orthodox Tradition, Vol XXIII, Number 2 (2006), pp. 43-44.