

Ordination of a Presbyter in Sydney, Australia

ON SUNDAY, 15 December 2003 (Old Style), in the Cathedral of the Holy Unmercenaries Cosmas and Damian, in Sydney, Australia, His Eminence, Bishop Chrysostomos of Sydney and New South Wales, Exarch of the Holy Synod in Resistance in Australia, Ordained Deacon Father Nectarios Manolaros a Presbyter, in an atmosphere of joy and compunction among the Orthodox Faithful, who had inundated the Church.

Father Nectarios, a married man with two children, was appointed Rector of the Cathedral. He enjoys the love and confidence of His Eminence and of all of the Faithful on account of his steadfastness in the Faith and his dedication to the work of the Church.

Together with our brethren in Australia, we pray that the pastoral service of the newly-Ordained Presbyter will be God-pleasing, and that it will truly constitute a witness of True Orthodoxy in faraway Australia.
